Incidents and Features of the Ju-

and Old Pioneers Very Much in Evidence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was a right royal jubilee parade, through the city, backed by the last of the color and music that could be gathered to prove how heartily California celebrates the passage of fifty years of the reign of gold. Early in the morning rain had been looked for, and its coming was dreaded, but the blue skies and cheery sun reigned supreme until a few moments before the last of the procession had reached the reviewing stand. The streets through which the parade passed were black with sightseers. Most of the other thoroughfares of the city were absolutely deserted.

With the progress marked by the firing of bombs the procession moved up Montgomery street. The buildings and sidewalks were packed full of eager watchers, and from every window and roof along the thoroughfare flags and handkerchiefs fluttered continuously. The precision and military-like steadiness of the United States troops, the brilliant uniforms of the Governor's staff, the smiling faces of the National Guards, the bands of music, fluttering banners of the pioneers and miners, bright red jackets of the old fire-fighters, who were a time trundled their engine down the narrow little Montgomery street of long ago, the Native Sons with their beautiful streamers and Native Daughters in white riding habits, the Indians, school children, semi-military and foreign organizations and floats—all these were in turn recognized and heartily greeted.

Turning sharply off Montgomery avenue into Kearney, the procession plunged into a solid mass of Celestials, who filled Portsmouth square, and the adjoining streets, and who, while their enthusiasm was of a subdued order, were plainly delighted with the free show.

When the procession swept into Market street it was curious to see how the great crowds were roused to enthusiasm by certain features of the parade. The United States troops, pioneers and school children easily took the lead in these demonstrations, the latter particularly receiving, as they deserved, especially long and loud applause. Their marching was excellent, and it was just as precise and regular at the end of the walk as at the beginning.

The enthusiasm, the cheering, the gaiety and the brilliancy of Market street paled before the demonstration that greeted the procession on Van Ness avenue. For over two hours thousands of spectators witnessed two brilliant lines of moving color going in opposite directions. The bands, as they passed one another did their best to drown the music of opposition organizations, and the paraders swelled the volume of sound by applauding their fellow-marchers as they passed.

When the Native Sons made a magnificent showing, off opposite the Fifty-Niners, they stood and gladdened the hearts of the veterans with round about round of cheering, and the pioneers stood up in their carriages and waved their handkerchiefs quite vigorously in return. Incidents of this kind combined with the glittering passage of troops and floats, the firing of bombs and waving of countless flags made up a scene so spirited and enthusiastic that few who witnessed it will ever forget its charms.

By careful count there were 12,000 persons in line. The regular army was 80 strong. There were 2000 Native Sons and fully 1500 school children. The latter received more applause than all the others. The floats were numerous and very handsome, and they gave an actual review of the history of the State. The old fire engines also excited great interest, as they were followed by the new steam engines and the big water tower. The Chinese made an excellent showing, and were liberally cheered—which was one of the most significant signs of the change of sentiment toward the Oriental. Take it all in all, the parade was the finest ever seen in San Francisco.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—With the rising of the sun this morning the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of gold in California, known as the golden jubilee, was heralded by the booming of the guns at the various forts that line the shores of the bay at the entrance to the Golden Gate. The salute commenced with a welcome of twenty-one guns from the big 12-inch guns at Fort Point. This was followed in quick succession by the guns at Fort Mason, Alcatraz and Angel Island.

Though rather too cold to allow of standing still in the early morning, the weather was bright and bracing, and the day promised to be much warmer, and the conditions were perfect when the hour for the big parade arrived. Punctually at 10:30 o'clock one of the most interesting parades ever seen in this State marched through the streets, which were gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and were thronged with people from every part of the State. At least fifty thousand strangers poured into the city at night and this morning, and half as many more from the towns across the bay swelled the crowds from this city along the line of the California Highway, the ferry to Van Ness avenue, was packed on either side, and that part of it in the vicinity of the Baldwin Hotel, where a mammoth arch had been erected across the street, was a dense mass of humanity. Every window along the line of march and many roofs of the buildings were pressed into service by the sightseers.

The first division of the parade consisted of the United States troops from the Presidio, Angel Island, Fort Baker, Fort Mason and Benicia Barracks, headed by a platoon of police, Grand Lieut.-Gov. Jeter and his aides, and to the regulars this division included the Third Brigade of the National Guard, the cadets of the University Cadets, cadets from the Tamaulipas Military Academy, the United States life-saving service, the Executive branch of the general Mexican war veterans, Mayor Phelan and officials in carriages, and the regents of the State University.

The second division consisted of the officers of the day, California Pioneers, companions to James W. Marshall and other early pioneers, and the members of the California Pioneer Association. In the third division were the Executive Firemen and their old apparatus, and the present fire brigade, with its modern paraphernalia of fire engines and hose. The fourth division, a strikingly pretty one, consisted wholly of Native Daughters, each parlor represented and distinguished by its uniform.

The fifth and sixth divisions comprised the fifth and sixth divisions, the League of the Cross Cadets, the seventh, several thousand school children and the eighth, the Young Men's Institute, the ninth, and the Italian societies, the tenth.

Then came the Veteran Guard of California, the National Travelers and other organizations. The twelfth division was one of the most striking of the whole parade. It consisted of several hundred Chinese warriors in costume, and a small battalion of Chinese Native Sons. This being the first time in the history of San Francisco that the Chinese have participated in any general public display, their magnificent costumes and general air of gaiety attracted unusual attention.

The three remaining divisions included the Foresters, Old Friends, a Wild West show and a long train of carriages and citizens on foot. The procession may be imagined, when it is stated that it took almost two hours for it to pass a given point.

After the parade, a reception was tendered to the visiting firemen in the Pioneers' building, and a grand concert by Cassa's Band was given at Woodward's Pavilion, where a series of literary exercises were held. The evening, Lieut.-Gov. Jeter delivered "California's Greeting," while Mayor Phelan did the honors on behalf of the city. The program was well arranged, and included recitations, addresses, choruses, solos and musical selections appropriate to the occasion.

Two balls will be given at the Native Sons' and Pioneers' halls, and a grand display of fireworks from Rincon Hill.

SOME FEATURES.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A notable feature of the procession was the participation of Chinese and Japanese residents of this city. The former had a marching band, and a small band of men on foot, several well-filled carriages and a band, which rendered oriental music with ear-piercing effect. The Japanese contingent consisted of day-drawers at intervals along the line of march, filling the air with ghost-like forms of monster animals and giant birds.

The public-school children made a splendid display, and the Native Sons were out in greater strength than ever before. The Native Daughters, who acted as the float of the Carnival, Miss Minnie Klevesohl, were dressed in white and mounted on spirited steeds, attracting much attention. A carriage containing the prize for the grand prize, when he made his great discovery, was cheered as it passed through the lane of spectators along the streets.

Late in the afternoon rain began to fall, but the weather did not interfere with the parade. The grand ball given tonight by the Native Sons was a success in every respect. Should the weather prove propitious, the coming days of the carnival will more than realize the expectations of its promoters.

Tomorrow will be given over to the Native Daughters, who will entertain their sisters from all parts of the State.

Thomas T. Lane, superintendent of the Utica mine and aide to the grand marshal of the parade, was thrown from his horse while the aides were forming in front of the Palace Hotel, and was severely bruised about the head and face.

The Golden Jubilee Mining Fair at Mechanics' Pavilion will be opened Saturday evening next. The President of the United States will touch a button in Washington which will at that hour ring the golden jubilee bell in the pavilion, thus inaugurating the fair.

Sorts of Speculations.

Assistant Secretary Day Says There
Is Nothing Unfriendly in the Move—Minister de Lome Sees No
Menace in It—Quezada's Views.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Within forty-eight hours, for the first time since the insurrection broke out in Cuba, three years ago, the United States government will be represented in the harbor of Havana by a warship. The decision to send the United States ship Maine was finally reached at a special meeting of the President's cabinet this morning, at which the President, Secretary Long, Assistant Secretary Day, Atty.-Gen. McKenna and Gen. Miles were present, and it is a striking fact that, with the exception of the Secretary of the Navy and the Attorney-General, not a member of the cabinet knew of the President's intention to take this radical action.

It is denied, however, that such a move has long been in contemplation, as evidenced in the following statement of Assistant Secretary Day made this afternoon: "The sending of the Maine to Havana means simply the resumption of friendly naval relations with Spain. It is customary for navies of friendly nations to pass in and out of the harbors of other countries with which they are at peace, and British and German warships have recently visited Havana. This is no new move. The President has intended to do it for some time, but heretofore something has happened to postpone it. The orders to the Maine mean nothing more than I have said, and there is nothing alarming or unfriendly in them. The Spanish Minister here is fully informed of what is going on, and so far as objection to it."

Further, Assistant Secretary Day said that Consul-General Lee had not sent for a warship. This statement shows that the move was made deliberately, and that it could not have been taken if there were serious apprehension of the purpose of our government. The general belief here, however, is that in Madrid, rather than in any Cuban town, is trouble to be looked for, if there should be any misapprehension of the purpose of our government. The sending of the Maine to Havana, in the opinion of the opposition newspapers in the Spanish capital has been threatened for some time, and it may require the strong hand of the news censor to repress utterances that would lead to rioting.

Admiral Seward's orders were not made public in their text at the Navy Department, but it was stated that the substance of them was contained in the statement made by Secretary Long. The orders were not sent directly to the Maine, for the reason that she is now attached to the squadron, and the naval regulations require all such orders to go through the superior officer.

There is some question whether the telegram reached the admiral before he sailed with his squadron from Key West for Tortugas Harbor, and the belief is that it did not, but this will make little difference in the programme, inasmuch as the telegram will be sent to the admiral by one of the torpedo boats, or by some other means of conveyance. The details of the Maine's movements are believed to be left for the arrangement of Admiral Seward, but it is thought that the ship, which put to sea with the squadron, will return to Key West before going to Havana.

The German ships to which Assistant Secretary Day referred to in his statement are the Charlotte and the Geyer, both training ships and not of formidable type, though one sufficed to settle the recent Haytian difficulty. Their touching at Havana is not believed to be significant, as their cruise was arranged in all details last September, and the same ships are due at Charleston, S. C., early in February next.

The commander of the Maine, Capt. Sigsbee, is a favorite in the Navy Department. For four years he was chief of the Hydrographic Office, and by his energy brought the office to a high standard. He was lucky to get so important a ship as the Maine, considering his actual rank, which is that of a commander, but immediately he justified the department's judgment in the selection by running his ship straight into a dock in New York Harbor in order to avoid running down a packed excursion boat. This was a display of quick judgment, nerve and pluck that pleased the department so highly that the captain was sent a complimentary letter.

His officers are also a good lot, including Lieutenant-Commander Richard Wainwright, Lieut. G. F. Holman, John Hood and C. W. Yungen, Lieut. (Junior grade) G. B. Blow, T. Blandin and P. W. Jenkins. Cadets J. H. Holden, W. T. Cluverius, Amos Bronson and D. F. Boyd, Jr., Surgeon L. G. Heneberger, Paymaster W. W. Littlefield, Chief Engineer C. P. Howell, Passed Assistant Engineer J. R. Morris and D. R. Merritt, Cadet Engineer Pope, Washington and Arthur C. C. Renshaw, Chaplain J. P. Childwick and Lieutenant of Marines A. W. Catlin.

OLD ORDER OF THINGS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The United States steamship Maine has been ordered to Havana. It is said in the Navy Department that no disturbing news has been received, but this movement is rather in the line of a resumption of the free intercourse of our naval vessels in Cuban waters, the prevailing prior to their withdrawal on account of the outbreak of hostilities.

It was evident that the decision to send the Maine to Havana was a vital move, not arrived at hastily from the events that preceded the announcement. For some time past the administration officials have been of the opinion that a mistake was made by the preceding administration concerning the Cuban situation, in deciding, out of excessive caution on an overbearing regard for the sensibilities of the Spanish public, to abandon the practice, which had been pursued by our Navy Department for years, of sending our warships at intervals on cruises through the West Indies, with frequent stops at Havana.

Members of the House Discuss the Condition of Kansas—Mr. Grosvenor Challenges an Alleged Interview With the President.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Proposed annexation of Hawaii was somewhat extensively reviewed by Mr. Morgan of Alabama today while speaking to a question of personal privilege. The Alabama Senator had been represented as saying in executive session substantially that ex-President Cleveland was in favor of Hawaiian annexation. This statement called out a denial from Mr. Cleveland, and in support of his original statement, Mr. Morgan addressed the Senate at great length.

One of the features of the session was an elaborate speech by Mr. Turpie of Indiana in support of the Teller resolution.

The Pension Appropriation Bill was called up and debated for nearly three hours, but was not passed, the Senate adjourning until tomorrow pending the disposal of a point of order made against an amendment offered by Mr. Allen of Nebraska to the pending bill.

The House spent a couple of hours today transacting business relating to the District of Columbia, and the remainder of the day on the Indian Appropriation Bill. During the consideration of the last-named, a lively debate was precipitated by an allusion made by Mr. Simpson (Pop.) of Kansas relative to an alleged interview with the President on the subject of immigration. Grosvonor took exception to the statement that the President had never used some of the language credited to him, and the debate drifted into a general discussion of our industrial conditions, in the course of which the strike in New England, and high prices for wheat in Kansas and the defection of Republican officials in Nebraska successively played their parts. Messrs. Dingley, Groves (Pop.) of Nebraska, and Mercer (Rep.) of Nebraska, Grosvonor (Rep.) of Ohio, and Simpson (Pop.) of Kansas participated.

FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.
REGULAR SESSION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—SENATE.—Mr. Walthall of Mississippi presented the credentials of H. D. Money as Senator from Mississippi to succeed the late Senator George, and the oath was administered to Mr. Money, who has been sitting as Senator under appointment from the Governor of Mississippi. Mr. Walthall presented a joint resolution, adopted by the Legislature of Mississippi, urging the United States government to intervene in the Cuban war on behalf of the insurgents, "peacefully if it can; forcibly if it must." The resolution was read and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Morgan of Alabama gave notice this morning, and during the day he would make a statement concerning what he conceived to be an attack upon his veracity by Mr. Cleveland.

The Teller resolution was then laid before the Senate, and in accordance with the action previously given, Mr. Turpie of Indiana addressed the Senate in support of the resolution. "I shall vote for the resolution willingly," he said. "I think it opportune, especially when we are confronted by a measure, which contemplates an increase of the public debt by three or four hundred million dollars. It is indeed proper that we should repeat the declaration that all government obligations are payable in coin; not in gold."

SENATOR MORGAN'S HIT.

By the original resolution, passed nearly thirty years ago, Mr. Turpie held, coin was made synonymous with solvency, and debt was made synonymous with insolvency. It was thereby made payable in both gold and silver, or in either of those metals. "If we abandon silver," said he, "and agree to pay all of our obligations in gold, we should simply clinch the hold of the debt syndicate upon the country. If, however, we maintain a bimetallic standard and enforce that position by opening our mints to the free coinage of silver, the syndicate of the national debt would become as strong friends as enemies. It is my friend from Colorado, the author of this resolution, for they would not lose anything on their holdings of government obligations."

He denounced as a falsehood of the gold men the statement that the standard silver dollar was worth only half its face value, and that some time in the future it would be worth still less.

Mr. Turpie analyzed the bill proposed by the Monetary Commission, and sharply attacked the proposition that all debts should be payable in gold, inasmuch as, especially, as that provision made the government obligations payable in gold. He suggested that this was an indirect method of discarding the standard silver dollar, which, by the enactment of that proposition, would be left high and dry, without the proper debt-paying ability.

Mr. Turpie did not believe any such proposition would ever find public favor in the United States. Indeed, he had, he said, a profound conviction that silver would finally be restored to its proper position, not by international agreement, but by the honest indi-

Mr. Morgan spoke for an hour and a half, concluding with the statement that he and other silver advocates were willing to rest their case with the people.

Mr. Morgan of Alabama, under a question of personal privilege, rose at the conclusion of Mr. Turpie's address to make in favor of which he had earlier given notice.

Mr. Morgan referred to a dispatch from Princeton, N. J., published yesterday, quoting President Cleveland as denying a statement said to have been made by him (Mr. Morgan) in an executive session of the Senate to the effect that Mr. Cleveland was once in favor of the annexation of Hawaii. Mr. Morgan said that he could not discuss his own statements made in executive sessions.

"No statement for publication was made by me," said Mr. Morgan, "hence Mr. Cleveland, in accepting such a statement without first ascertaining from me what the facts were, shows his willingness to accept ex parte statements in Hawaiian matters."

Mr. Morgan said that it was well known to some of Mr. Cleveland's friends during his first administration that he was in favor, not only of the annexation of Hawaii, but also of Cuba.

"I cannot," declared Mr. Morgan, "another Mr. Cleveland's statement that he was always opposed to Hawaiian annexation. I can name at least one confidential friend of Mr. Cleveland who will support me in the belief that the statement is not true."

Mr. Morgan then presented an extended review of Mr. Cleveland's connection with the Hawaiian question, while the President, who had been denouncing the accrediting of Special Commissioner Blount to the government at Honolulu as a piece of duplicity without parallel.

Mr. Morgan reiterated his belief that Mr. Cleveland was in favor of annexation, but that Mr. Cleveland's honest friends were in favor of the policy of overthrowing the provisional Hawaiian government. The correspondence of the President, he said, was in the broad predicament that Mr. Cleveland was capable of declaring one policy and intended to carry it out effect another.

Mr. White of California facetiously referred to Mr. Morgan's discussion of the Hawaiian question in open session, and declared that the President was showing the utter futility and folly of confining the discussion of such matters to the executive sessions of the Senate.

In accordance with notice previously given, Mr. Perkins of California called upon the Pension Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Callinger of the Senate said that the adoption of an amendment provided that hereafter no pension should be paid upon power of attorney from pensioners residing in foreign countries. After the adoption of the committee's amendment to the bill, Mr. Morgan of Maryland briefly addressed the Senate upon the measure. He said that the bill did not carry with it $500,000 or $1,000,000 of the sum necessary for the pensions of 1898. He charged that the bill framed to meet the deficiency in revenue which, he said, was anticipated by the administration.

Mr. Perkins of California, in charge of the bill, then made a general statement regarding the bill, and said that it had been framed upon estimates submitted by the Secretary of the Interior, the officer of the government charged with that duty.

Mr. Stewart of Nevada said there should be no deficiency in the treasury as there was now in the vaults a great surplus of gold and silver. He thought, ought to be put in circulation in accordance with law.

Mr. Allen of Nebraska offered an amendment to the bill providing that hereafter no pension should be granted, and that all pensions less than $5 a month now being paid be raised to that amount.

Mr. Perkins made the point that the amendment that it was new legislation.

Mr. Allen took Mr. Perkins's point of order as the pretext for an extended speech, in which he lambasted the Republican party, declaring in the course of his remarks that the Republicans were the worst enemy the old soldier had.

Mr. Perkins said, in reply, that the Senator from Nebraska had taken the opportunity to deliver a political speech, when it was a well-known fact that the party was the friend of the old soldier.

Without reaching any conclusion as to the point or order, Mr. Allen's amendment, the Senate at 5:30 p.m., on motion of Mr. Morgan, adjourned until tomorrow.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

HOUSE.—At the opening of the session today, Mr. Kibben (Rep.) of Texas and Mr. Dockery (Dem.) of Missouri called attention to a poll of the House on the Immigration Bill, printed in a paper today. They had been made to favor the bill, and were opposed to it.

"I suggest that the roll be called," exclaimed Mr. Rogers (Rep.) of Illinois, "and the poll corrected." "The chair thinks the jurisdiction of the House does not go beyond the Congressional Record," muttered the Speaker dryly.

Mr. Boutelle (Rep.) of Maine, chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported by the two resolutions calling upon the Secretary of the Navy as to the suitability of sites for making armor-plate in the South, with the recommendation that they lay upon the table. The report called attention to the fact that invitations had been issued for sealed proposals for the land, but bids for machinery for the armor-plate factory had not been opened January 24, 1888, and that the Secretary, when these were opened, would send a special report to Congress containing the results of the view of the fact that the Secretary was now proceeding to carry out the law. Mr. Boutelle said he thought it not necessary to call the Secretary for information which he would furnish.

The question was laid on the table without division, but Mr. Thayer (Dem.) of Alabama insisted upon a division upon his resolution, calling upon the Secretary for the information obtained by the armor-plate board as to the advantages of southern places as a location for an armor-plate plant, but by a vote of 107 to 106, the resolution was tabled.

Mr. Curtis (Rep.) of Iowa then claimed the day for business from the District of Columbia Committee.

POPULIST RULE.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.]

Two hours were consumed in the consideration of district business, after which the House went into committee of the whole, and resumed consideration of the Indian Appropriation Bill. Speaking in a pro-Populist sentiment, Mr. Simpson (Rep.) of Kansas commented on an interview with the President relative to the strike in the cotton mills of New England, where the President was quoted as regarding the condition of labor, and as favoring a restriction of immigration.

Mr. Simpson spoke of the report of the Agricultural Department experts' views on the condition of the residents of the slums of New York, in which the experts alleged that the poverty was due to extravagance. The experts, he said, stated that the people sometimes bought beefsteak when they could get much nutriment out of bananas. The purpose of Mr. Simpson's comment was that there should be economy in governmental affairs.

Mr. Dingley (Rep.) of Maine replied in some good-natured remarks, in which he testified that Mr. Simpson on having been told of the misdeeds of "bleeding Kansas" and being now engaged in looking for misery elsewhere, "We have Populists in Kansas, and there is no longer any misery out there," interposed Mr. Simpson.

Continuing Mr. Dingley said he also believed in economy, but he thought it strange that on every proposition to increase expenditures, the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. Simpson) had voted in the affirmative.

"That is not true," interposed Mr. Simpson.

"I leave that to the members of the House who have seen him fling through the tellers, responded Mr. Dingley, who concluded by saying he hoped members would follow the words, not the example, of Mr. Simpson.

Mr. Curtis (Rep.) of Kansas, commenting on Mr. Simpson's statement about the reappearance of property in Kansas, owing to Populistic rule, said that in one year of Republican rule in this country the farmers of Kansas had paid off $50,000,000 of mortgages, while under the Populistic rule the Kansas State institutions were suffering for lack of funds, and for the first time in years State warrants were being stamped "not good, for lack of funds." The people of Kansas he said, were proud of the Republican party.

Cost and Geodetic Survey to Find a Deep-water Entrance to the Yukon—Railroads to Consider Rates.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TACOMA (Wash.) Jan. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Engineers and experienced pilots for Alaska are getting scarce. Transportation companies, particularly never ones, are much perplexed on this account. Recent numerous changes in the officers of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's boats are attributed to this cause. It is being necessary to place on every steamer of the northern fleet not only a captain, but two pilots familiar with the treacherous waters of the Alaska coast. The promotion of mates of several steamers to be pilots is expected soon to occur. One mate recently received a pilot after a half-dozen Alaska voyages.

One result of the scarcity of engineers and pilots has been nearly to double the value of their services. Herebefore the average salary paid to an engineer was $25, while now some have been engaged at $50 and $60 a month. Several engineers are leaving the Northern Pacific car shops, being attracted by higher pay on Alaska steamers. Steamship men say that pilots and engineers for many new Yukon steamers will be secured with great difficulty, if at all, later in the season.

ANOTHER ALASKA EXPEDITION.

This One Will Seek a Deep-water Entrance to the Yukon.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Prof. Pritchett of the Coast and Geodetic Survey has practically completed arrangements for an expedition which will start for Alaska in the spring, to make an examination of the delta of the Yukon River, for the purpose of locating and marking, if possible, a deep-water entrance to the river. For the carrying out of this work and for the exploration of Cooper River, Congress has just passed a bill appropriating $10,000. The bill will be signed by the President within a few days, and the money will be immediately available. The expedition will leave San Francisco, a joint land and water party will be under the direction of Lieut. Helm, who is a skillful hydrographer. The expedition will consist of thirty men.

BAD FOR REINDEER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Of a herd of forty reindeer which left Finland more than a month ago, only five have been here alive, the others having been executed by the rolling of the ship. There were no cattle stalls in the ship, and the reindeer were tied to stanchions. They were not a part of Uncle Sam's purchase, but were bound to the Klondike to be used as beasts of burden by private individuals.

RATIOS TO ALASKA.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Eastern and western roads will take up the question of rates to Alaska this week, and an effort will be made to agree on through tariffs to Dawson City. To-morrow the Western Union Telegraph and Passenger Association will meet and discuss the advisability of asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to suspend its rule that no company will enable them to meet the low rates made by the Canadian Pacific without subjecting themselves to the penalty of violating the interstate commerce law.

On the day following, the roads of the Central Passenger Association will be the same for the same purpose, and on Wednesday a joint meeting of eastern and western roads will be held. There is no doubt that the western roads will all tomorrow ask the suspension of the long-and-short-haul clause of the interstate commerce law. As matters now stand, the roads of this country are not able to meet the competition of the Canadian Pacific without demoralizing their local rates.

partment at 3 o'clock, in pursuit of information concerning the movements of the Maine. He asked, and was freely permitted to see the orders sent to Admiral Seward directing him to proceed to Havanna, and the Maine has just joined the North Atlantic squadron, and for this reason all orders to her go through Admiral Seward. The fact that the Spanish Minister was shown the orders is regarded as an indication that there is nothing of a threatening or bellicose nature in them.

The Navy Department received information during the day that the squadron had sailed from Key West to Dry Tortugas, this being in accordance with the original programme when it was ordered south.

PROOF OF ANARCHY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Sefior Quesada, secretary of the Cuban Junta, and Sefior Albertini of the Cuban staff in Washington were about the Capitol during the day, conferring with members concerning the Cuban staff. Quesada said:

"The sending of the Maine to Cuba whatever be the official version, is, in our opinion, proof that things are in a condition in the few Spanish strongholds the anarchy reigns, and that American citizens and property, unable to find protection at the hands of the impotent Spanish government, have no other recourse than to take refuge in the United States."

"The attitude of the Spanish rabble which is now being shown, and the presence of an American warship in Havana means intervention, undoubtedly they will now say it is the most natural thing for any nation to send its vessels to the ports of a friendly power, but we will declare that the government is delighted. But we shall soon hear from Gen. Weyler's subordinates in Cuba and from Spain, that if the Spanish rabble in Havana do not bring to the Spanish minds the conviction that prudence in this case is the better part of valor."

Sefior Albertini, in the sending of the Maine will justify itself with future events. With his acquaintance with Spanish methods, he says there is greater reason for apprehension than has yet been shown, and he declares that as soon as Spain finds that Cuba is lost, a carnival of slaughter will be inaugurated, with the city of Havana, and the Cuban fortress trained on the city of Havana.

UNCLE SAM'S FLEET.

Formidable Array of Warships Off the Florida Coast.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Never before has the majesty of the United States been represented by so large and powerful a fleet of warships as that now gathered off the extreme southern coast of Florida, within striking distance of the Island of Cuba. Whether the ships shall be called into action or not, an examination of the fleet now gathered off the extreme southern coast of Florida, within striking distance of the Island of Cuba. Whether the ships shall be called into action or not, an examination of the fleet now gathered off the extreme southern coast of Florida, within striking distance of the Island of Cuba.

For a year the Navy Department has been preparing for this emergency, and the result is a fleet such as has never been seen before, ready for service in American waters.

The Atlantic fleet, now under the command of Admiral Seward, is stationed at Tortugas, and a telegraph address at Key West, is made up of the battleships Indiana, Iowa and Massachusetts, the second-class battleships Maine and Texas, the monitor Terror, the armored cruisers New York and Brooklyn, the cruisers Detroit and Montgomery, and the torpedo boats Cushing, Dupont, Ericsson, Foley and Porter, with the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, and the little dispatch boat Fern.

There is not a back number in the fleet. With the exception of the Cushing torpedo-boat, which was put into service in 1890, not a ship in the fleet has been in commission for five years. They are the flower of the new navy, and the sixteen fighting machines are manned by 207 officers, 28,000 men, besides the marines. The batteries of the heavy ships are simply tremendous. When in action the fleet would be throwing shells of twenty-eight inch guns, with an addition of fifty rapid-fire rifles. All this is for long-range business, and is in addition to the secondary batteries of low-caliber guns. The torpedo boats are armed with fifteen eighteen-inch Whitehead torpedoes, and the ships themselves are fitted up with tubes for firing twenty-two inch torpedoes, a total effective battery of twenty-three marine engines, besides the Vesuvius, mounting three dynamite guns.

A FORMIDABLE FLEET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Maine, which has been selected to make the trip to Havana, is a battleship of the second-class, and is regarded as one of the best ships in the new navy. She was built at the Brooklyn navy yard, and is 218 feet long, 32 feet beam, and 10 feet draft, and 682 tons displacement. She has two 10-inch vertical turrets and two military masts, and her armament is made up of 10-inch breech-loading guns in her main battery, and seven 6-pounders and four 1-pounder rapid-fire guns, and four 18-inch torpedoes. She is also armed with 15-inch Whitehead torpedoes.

While administration officials miss no opportunity of declaring their belief of peace, it may be said that the United States has assembled at Key West the most formidable fleet of warships that has been gathered together in our home waters for many years. It is made up of the North Atlantic squadron under command of Admiral Seward, with the flagship New York, first-class battleships Indiana, Massachusetts, and Texas, cruisers Detroit and Montgomery, dispatch-boat Fern and the torpedo-boat Cushing, and the monitors Dupont and Porter, which will be reinforced in a few days by the Foote.

The big protected cruiser Brooklyn, almost completely new, is now being fitted out at the New York navy yard, and Capt. Cook, who commands the ship, was at the Navy Department this morning, expecting to sail for the latter part of this week to join Admiral Seward's squadron. The gunboat Nashville and the training ship Essex are at Port Royal, S. C., within easy call, and the navy may be said to be in a state of preparedness that is gratifying to officials, in view of the limited resources placed at their hands by Congress.

STOCKTON, Jan. 24.—News has just reached this city of a rich strike
last Friday in the Roanoke mine property of George F. Reed, near Mokelumne Hill, and Dr. Wallace of this city, and Mr. Klitzberg of New York, situated near Mokelumne Hill.The strike was made at a depth of 300 feet, where a large body of rich ore was uncovered. The ledge is ten feet wide, containing considerable gold,
and is free-milling ore. Some of the
it will assay $500 a ton, and some as high as $1000. It is the purpose of the owners to sink 200 feet on the ledge, and operations will be begun at once.The mine in which the strike was made was formerly known as the Lampshire, and the present owners
have been operating it but four years.
The twenty-stamp mill that had been erected some time ago was burned recently, having been set on fire by incendiaries. The mill was erected at a cost of $20,000, and in view of the recent strike, it is highly probable that it will be rebuilt. In fact, the owners of the mine are even now awaiting the arrival of eastern capitalists with that in view. No stock is for sale, it being a close corporation.

STOCKTON, Jan. 24.—The threatened litigation over the estate of the late Henry Barnhart has been avoided
by an agreement entered into by the daughter and the widow of the deceased, through their attorneys, Minor & Ashley, with the deceased's son,
who had announced his intention of attacking a deed executed by Barnhart, Sr., conveying certain property
to Mrs. Barnhart.Under the terms of the agreement
the son is to receive $75,000 in land, or in the event of the other heirs being unable to transfer the land, $75,000
in money. The agreement sets forth
the particular tracts of land, located in San Joaquin and Fresno counties,
which are to go to the son, the valuation of each piece being fixed by the heirs. The latter are to assume all of the expenses of probating the estate and also to pay off a claim amounting to more than $50,000, held
by the San Francisco Savings Union.
Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart are to receive all of the estate, profits and interests of the land up to next October,
when the transfer of title is to be made. The son agrees to ratify all deeds that Mr. Barnhart, Sr., made to his wife's daughter.

The estate is valued at about $500,000.

LICK OBSERVATORY, Jan. 24.—A telegram received at Mount Hamilton from Prof. Campbell, who is in charge of the Crocker Lick Observatory expedition at Jeer, India, states that most satisfactory photographs of the corona were obtained with three different telescopes, one set with a telescope forty feet long, and two other
sets with five-foot and three-foot telescopes. He also reports that the great equatorial extension of the corona,
which formed such a conspicuous feature of the eclipse of January, 1889, has again been photographed. He also satisfactorily photographed the changes in the solar spectrum with the aid of matter in the lower region of the sun's atmosphere form a comparatively thin

stratum, in a more elevated region called the reversing layer. Certain of the rays of light from the lower regions
of the sun's atmosphere are absorbed in passing through this stratum, and
the absence of these rays is indicated by the presence of dark lines in the solar spectrum. It is this reversing layer that has probably been photographed by the Lick Observatory party.

A HEARTLESS LANDLADY.

Sues a Man for Having Been Shot
in Her House.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, Jan. 24.—Farmer E. A.
Brown is happy to have his home invaded by a man, but not so happy to have his money stolen. Mrs. Sager,
his landlady, who wanted $100
damages for soiled bedding, caused by the blood that flowed from his wounds
at the time he was robbed and assaulted by Irvin, withdrew her suit on account of adverse public sentiment.
Brown says he will pay her what is right. Irvin, who pleaded guilty, will receive sentence tomorrow.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM.

Horse Runs Away During the Jubilee Parade—Many Hurt.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A runaway horse created a panic today at Bush and Montgomery streets during the passage of the jubilee parade. Five persons were injured by the animal
and a score of others prostrated by
the shock incident to the crush of the hundreds fleeing for safety. Those most seriously hurt were:MRS. AMANDA ROBERTS, colored, internally injured, besides several
abrasions of the scalp.JOHN COPPELTON, right arm crushed and contusion on the body.MRS. M. PERRY of Oakland, lacer-ated scalp and serious shock.MRS. TODD, 65 years old, head laid open and painful internal injuries.MISS ADA SCOTT and ESTELLE WILLIAMS, picked up unconsciousand sent home in a carriage by the police, are thought to have fainted
from fear.

GEORGE CLARKE CONFESSES.

Murdered His Brother to Secure His Wife.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NAPA, Jan. 24.—In the presence of the Sheriff and District Attorney of Napa, and a number of other witnesses, George Willard Clarke confessed that he was the murderer of his brother, W. A. Clarke, at St. Helena on last Thursday.Mrs. Levina Clarke was married to William A. Clarke more than twenty years ago in Clay county, Ill. She is 46
years old and the mother of seven children. George W. Clarke, the murderer, became intimate with her thirteen or fourteen years ago. Their relations
continued while the husband was in California making a home for her, and during that time a child was born, of which George Clarke was the father.After coming to California to live at
and near St. Helena, Napa county, Mrs.
Clarke became acquainted with her brother-in-law, but he persisted in his attempts to break off relations with her attempts. At times he asked her if she would live with him in case of her husband's death. Last month he put strychnine in his brother's coffee on two occasions, but the brother detected
the poison and had the coffee analyzed
by a druggist. Then, on Thursday morning, George Clarke lay in wait for his brother and shot him while he was preparing breakfast in the kitchen of his St. Helena home.The murderer was brought to Napa on Saturday Mrs. Clarke told at the inquest the story of her relations with her brother-in-law, but George Clarke continued to declare his innocence of the crime, and was finally induced to make a full confession, the details of which do not differ materially from the facts
of the crime already reported by the statements of Mrs. Clarke.

DR. BROWN CONFESSES.

He Makes a Sensational Finish at San Francisco.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—Rev. C.
O. Brown, now of Chicago, today confessed to the Bay conference of the Congregational Church that "a portion" of the charges connecting his name with that of Mattie Overman are true. He appeared before the conference very unbecomingly, expressed his deepest contrition for his backsliding,
resigned himself to fate, was chastened
and dropped out of the Congregational ministry, shook hands with the chas-
teners, and was finally declared that he was glad of it all.In his confession he says: "No action but my own now taken could deprive me either of my pulpit or of my fellowship in Chicago. I confess to the Dubuque and Chicago associations that I did them grievous wrong in accepting fellowship with the one and seeking that of the other. I herewith request that my name be dropped from the roll of the Chicago association."Dr. Brown read the confession to the Bay conference, and in every tone of his voice was a tremulous plea for mercy. After the conference had rendered its decision of expulsion, he seemed somewhat broken in spirit.
Nevertheless, he tried to keep a brave
front, and when asked what he thought about the action of his brethren, replied: "It is all for the best, I suppose, yet it is hard for me to bear."

CHARLES F. REED DEAD.

Prominent in California Politics.

Once a Wheat King.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

AUBURN, Jan. 24.—Hon. Charles F.
Reed, one of the most prominent members of California history, died here today.
Deceased came to Auburn and mined on the Auburn Ravine in May, 1849; was a member of the Constitutional Convention; represented Yolo county in the State Senate; was a member of the National Republican Convention
which nominated Blaine; was defeated
for the nomination for Governor in the Yosemite convention in 1888 by John Duffy; served as a member of the Yosemite Valley and other commissions, and has always been prominent in Republican politics.At one time he was the wheat king of California, but retired from the stock board after losing $100,000 in the great wheat deal of 1885. Since then he has given his attention to mining. He owned the Gold Blossom and the Drummond mines and valuable quartz properties in Placer county. A brother, Harry Reed, died in 1892, and two daughters and a son survive him.

HIGHER SHIP CHARTERS.

One of the Results of the Rush to Alaska.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—The examiner says that local ship-owners are preparing to take advantage of the experience gained last year. The result it is probable that charters will be higher during 1898 than at any time during the past ten years. The phenomenal advance in the price of wheat,
together with the unforeseen demand
for vessels to engage in the Alaska
trade, brought about a condition in the shipping market for which owners last year were unprepared.A member of one of the largest shipping firms in San Francisco is authoritative for the statement that the general
business for 1897 was transacted at a loss, or at best a small margin of profit
to owners.

RANDALL HUNT DEAD.

An Expert Who Decided Between San Pedro and Santa Monica.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—Randall
Hunt, a prominent civil engineer, died today. Graduating at Yale in 1876
with degrees in engineering and philosophy, his first work was in the department of public parks in New York.
He came to San Francisco in 1888, and soon gained a prominent place in his profession.A year ago he was the expert employed to investigate and make estimates for the committee appointed by congress to decide between the rival claims to the harbor improvement of San Pedro and Santa Monica.
Members of his family, including Judge
Hunt of the Supreme Court, were present at his death.

Commissioner Stanton's Successor.

STOCKTON, Jan. 24.—Gov. Budd, who is confident of his own success as governor, today, in reply to an Associated Press reporter's question, that he would appoint the successor of Railroad Commissioner Stanton.The late commissioner has been considerable speculation as to who will succeed Stanton in the board, and a strong fight is being made for the place by several persons. The Governor would give no information as to whom he intends appointing.

Arizona Board of Equalization.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 24.—The Territorial Board of Equalization held a special meeting today, in conjunction with representatives from the various boards of county supervisors. All of the members of the board and all of the counties, with the exception of Apache, were represented. The meeting was held at the various phases of the case, causing real estate values
improvements thereon and city lots.
Adjournment was made until tomorrow, when mining, railroad and irrigation interests will be considered. National changes in the assessments will be made hereafter will be adopted by the meeting.

A South-western Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—P. C.
Kretzer, a barber of Fresno, is in the City Prison on a charge of burglary,
alleged to have been committed in that city. He was arrested at Vallejo today, and to the authorities there confessed that he was wanted in San Francisco for killing a man May 15,
1895, Eugene Taylor was now at Fresno
on account of this confession, he is detained at the City Prison to await the result of investigation by the police as to the truth of his story.

Four of Uber's Lynchers.

GENOA (Nev.), Jan. 24.—Daniel Taylor, a witness from the Diamond sawmill, was called before the grand jury
today and testified that six men left the mill to join the lynchers of Uber at Gardnerville. Two of the party, he said, became weak and refused to proceed at Genoa, four remaining to assist the mob. The witness gave the names of these men. Three witnesses were examined tonight. The grand jury is expected to make its report tomorrow.

Million-dollar Incorporation.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 24.—Articles of incorporation were filed today with the County Recorder for the Sumner-land Oil and Mining Company, the capital stock being $1,000,000. The incorporators are Henry L. Williams, Edward C. Hedges, and Albert W. James.
The principal offices will be located at Phoenix, Ariz., and Sumnerland and Los Angeles, Cal.

Salvationists in Arizona.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 24.—Adj. and Mrs. Wood of San Francisco, the Salvation Army work in Arizona. Maj. Milas, editor of the Pacific Coast War Cry, Edna Ensign, and Mrs. Ensign, are looking up a location for the establishment of the outdoor system. It is proposed to establish camps in all the principal mining camps of the Territory,
for which twenty-five additional men
will be needed.

Justice McKenna Entertains.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Justice and Mrs. McKenna entertained a distinguished company at dinner tonight,
when the entire cabinet circle, with the exception of the Secretary of War, was present to meet the President and Mrs. McKinley. The only guests in addition to the cabinet members and their wives was ex-President Harrison and wife, who will be generally entertained
during their visit at Washington.

Fossil from San Felipe.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 24.—The fossil remains of a mammoth animal were found today in the San Felipe Valley near W. Klitzberg, and are probably the foot of a cliff. A section of the neck
was brought to this city and pronounced by a member of the faculty of the Northern Pacific University as remains of an extinct mammal of enormous size. A portion of the head is shown, showing a long tusk, several teeth
and the jawbone.

Military Company Election.

STOCKTON, Jan. 24.—At an election held for officer of Co. B of the National Guard tonight, Capt. J. H. Eaton was elected. Second Lieut. Eaton was elected first lieutenant, defeating Lieut.
Duffy for reelection. Serg. Ferguson was elected to the second lieutenancy.
The hot contests were for the minor places, and the line was cleared for promotions.

McComas Their Choice.

ANNAPOLIS (Md.), Jan. 24.—Fifty-
three members of the General Assembly met in caucus tonight to select a member of the Senate. Hon. Louis E.
McComas was nominated over J. C.
Mulliken. The caucus then adjourned.

Died at His Brother's Hands.

YREKA, Jan. 24.—Patrick Cronin,
who was shot near Sawyer's, Friday,
by his brother Maurice, is dead.
Maurice Cronin, who has been lodged in jail here, claims that he shot his brother in self-defense.

A Salvage Claim.

VICTORIA (B. C.), Jan. 24.—The Canadian Pacific Navigation Company
has filed a salvage claim for $100,000
against the steamer Commonwealth,
which was picked up at sea by the Willapa.

Drowned in a Canal.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 24.—William
A. Seymour fell into the Salt River Valley Canal near Phoenix while intoxicated and drowned. His body was found and a verdict of accidental death
was rendered by a jury accordingly.

Cold at Visalia.

VISALIA, Jan. 24.—The coldest weather for sixteen years was experienced last night, the mercury drop-ing to 17 deg. No damage to fruit trees has been reported.

BIG FIRE AT SPOKANE.

THE GREAT EASTERN BLOCK IS REDUCED TO ASHES.At Least Five People Perished and Hundred are That Fifty or More
Died—The Property Loss Estimated at $400,000.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SPOKANE (Wash.), Jan. 24.—A fire, which the loss was up to $400,000,
worth of property, and in which at the very least five lives were lost, took place tonight. The Great Eastern Block at the corner of Post street and Riverside avenue, six stories high and constructed of brick, caught fire about 11:45 p.m., and in three hours was totally destroyed.At 1:30 o'clock the fire is under control. Only the walls of the big building remain. Estimates of the loss of life vary from ten to fifty. W. D. Lloyd was sitting in his room on the fifth floor, reading, when the alarm was given. "Every one who was in bed at that time on that floor perished," he said.He had a narrow escape. Wrapping his overcoat around his head, he came down the stairway. As he ran downstairs he ran into a man. He saw five persons on the floor, and he was convinced, perished. He heard persons falling around him, suffocated by the dense smoke.At first it was feared that fifty or more persons perished in the infernal furnace. The upper floors were occupied by seventy-five or 100 roomers, and it was not thought that more than twenty-five were saved.Mrs. Davies of Nebraska City, Neb., leaped from a window to the stone
pavement, and was taken to the hospital. She will die. Her daughter and son-in-law were saved. Great crowds
in the streets are frantic with excitement. Several thrilling rescues were made. One man came down a rope
with his babe on his arm and his wife
followed.The building is owned by Louis Levinsky of San Francisco. It cost $225,000, and is insured for $50,000. The first floor and basement were occupied by John W. Graham.

REPORTING RECORD.

TOD HAS A BRAIN.

HE DOES NOT MEAN TO LOSE
ANY TRICKS.Will Come to California to Work
Until the Racing Season Opens
in the East.

STANDING BY HIS CONTRACT.

AFTER HE IS RELEASED HE IS GOING TO ENGLAND.Scheme to Have Editors Ignore
Fugitive Foreign Cyclist to Be Brought to America—Cornell's
Chinese Coxswain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tod Sloan is going to California in a few days. He has no intention of remaining idle until the racing season in the East opens in April. Tod says no jockey can expect to do good work after a period of inactivity. He will take all the rounds
he can get on the Pacific Coast and keep himself in shape for a hard campaign next summer.He will keep his contract with the Fleischmanns, and will not annoy them
by asking for a release. His contract expires October 31. Immediately thereafter Tod will sail for England, and America will not see him again for a year or two.

NEW BICYCLE RACING CIRCUIT.

Representatives Abroad Securing
the Very Best Riders.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—More foreign racing cyclists are to be brought to America for the next outdoor racing season. A new race-promoting syndicate that proposes to operate a cycle
track in New York City and conduct a middle-distance racing circuit that will include the largest eastern cities of the United States and Canada, has sent a representative to Europe to secure the best possible available talent for that circuit. Their representative left New York on the 12th inst., bound direct for Paris, which at present is the headquarters of European cycle racers. He was commissioned to offer salaried inducements
to every prominent middle-distance rider on the continent, and if possible to arrange terms with the best short-distance men also. Cordag, the long-distance Dutchman, and Huret,
the long-distance French champion,
are also on the list.The circuit is being arranged, and among the cities that probably will be included are: Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York,
Toronto and Montreal. Negotiations are pending with a number of other cities that may be included in the circuit.

A CHINESE COXSWAIN.

May Help to Carry Cornell's Freshman Colors to Victory.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ITHACA (N. Y.), Jan. 24.—A Chinese
for coxswain in the great intercollegiate boat race is what the Cornell freshmen
may present this year. See Ka Sue, or S. A. Alfred Sue, as he is known in this country, has registered with Coach Courtney as a candidate for the coxswain's seat. Until some one else
shall prove superior there is a probability that this Celestial may be the first Chinese to turn the rudder of a racing shell.He has already attained a wide reputation for his remarkable abilities as a student, and the fact that he is to make such a record in the boat race is generally known. Five years ago he came to this country with the American legation,
and for a long time acted as private secretary for the Chinese Minister.

SCHEME OF EDITORS.

Would Soon Put a Stop to Useless
Pugilistic Arguments.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 24.—The scheduled meeting of the National Baseball League to be held in this city next month, will bring together the principal sporting writers of the country, and especially those of the twelve cities in which league clubs are located.There is said to be on foot a movement to organize a "League of Editors"
in league with the writers, to put a stop to the pugilistic arguments, and to decide to fight, and have made arrangements to do so. It is the purpose of this movement to have the writers,
who are mostly sporting editors, influence the management of their respective papers toward this end.

THE INGLESIDE RACES.

The Roman and Count of Flanders
Carried off the Honors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—The Roman and Count of Flanders carried off the honors at Ingleside today. Both of these young horses won their respective races in gallant style, and the 4000 or 5000 people that visited Ingleside were well repaid for their trouble.
The meeting of the Roman, Satsuma
and Ostler Joe attracted much attention. Satsuma ruled favorite in the betting. The Roman was well backed at 2 to 1, while the same price could also be obtained against Ostler Joe.

INGLESIDE SUMMARY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—Results
at Ingleside:Seven furlongs: Dr. Marks, 110 (H.
Conley); 2 to 5; won; Glorian, 113
(Thorpe); 2 to 1; second; H. H. Martin, (Clawson); 20 to 1, third; time 1:28 1/2.Row and Arrow, Formella and The Dipper also ran.Six furlongs: O'Connell, 115 (W.
Martin); 6 to 5; won; Zamar, 104
(Thorpe); 5 to 1; second; Callente, 109
(Clawson); 15 to 1, third; time 1:14 1/2.Lucky Doc, Midnight and Una Que also ran.One mile and an eighth: The Roman,
109 (W. Martin); 5 to 2; won; Ostler
Joe, 114 (Clawson); 2 to 1; second;
Satsuma, 114 (Jones); even, third; time
1:54. No others ran.One mile: Count of Flanders, 120
(Conley); 2 to 1; won; Moroced, 114
(W. Martin); 16 to 5; second; Mistleton, (Clawson); 5 to 2, third; time 1:42 1/2.Col. Dan, Marplot, Steaphout, Prestar, Highland Ball and Blarney Stone also ran.One mile: Hazard, 109 (Thorpe); 7 to 2; won; George Lee, 95 (Clawson); 9 to 1; second; Bobcat, 113 (H. H. Martin);
5 to 1, third; time 1:42 1/2. Garland Barr,
Imperious, Colonial Dame, Our Climate
and Al-Koran also ran.One mile and an eighth: Cromwell, 111 (H. Martin); 7 to 5; won; Can't Dance, 110 (W. Martin); 2 to 1, second;The first few minutes of a fire is the critical time; a quarter of a minute is worth saving. Millions may be lost in that time. When anyone is sick every instant is precious, particularly at the beginning before disease gets any headway.
When you first begin to feel "below
the mark," when you are not getting all
the strength you need out of your food,
when you are languid and indolent, it is time to try the tonic, strengthening effect of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It "extinguishes" disease
by making rich, healthy blood, full of the life-giving red corpuscles which drive out disease and flood the vital organs with fresh vitality.Every disease which has its seat in the blood is cured by this marvelous "Discovery" after all other remedies have failed. Its effects seem little short of miraculous in curing obstinate chronic throat and bronchial difficulties and even consumption."Run-down" people, delicate women,
pale and puny children gain flesh,
strength, color and nerve force by using this marvelous "Discovery." It does not make flabby fat like so many "emulsions," but hard, healthy, muscular tissues. At all medicine stores.Rufalba, 101 (Jones); 6 to 1, third;
time 1:55 1/2. Glad Eyes, Fred Gardner, Wawona and Palmyra also ran.

PITTSBURGH CYCLE TOURNEY.

A Dozen Starters in the Seventy-two-hour Race.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

The Times

THE WEATHER YESTERDAY.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Jan. 24.—(Reported by George E. Franklin, Local Forecast Official.) At 5 o'clock a.m. the thermometer registered 30.03; at 6 p.m., 30.17. Thermometer for the corresponding hour showed 42 deg. and 47 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 24 per cent.; 6 p.m., 29 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northwest, velocity 8 miles; 6 p.m., west, velocity 9 miles. Maximum temperature, 54 deg.; minimum temperature, 29 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

DRY BULB TEMPERATURE.

Los Angeles ..... 42 San Francisco ..... 40
San Diego ..... 40 Portland ..... 40

Weather Conditions.—An area of very high pressure over the mountain and eastern regions, accompanied by exceedingly cold weather. The temperature ranges from 12 deg. below zero in Northern Nevada to 20 deg. below in Idaho. Freezing weather is reported from the North Pacific Slope and from the interior valleys of California, and also from east of the mountains. Frosts occurred this morning in Northern California.

Forecast.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Continued fair, cool weather tonight and Tuesday, with frost Tuesday morning. Heavy snow, heavy rain, and heavy fog in the north; heavy rain, heavy fog, and heavy snow in the south; heavy rain, heavy fog, and heavy snow in the west.

WEATHER FORECAST:

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—For Southern California: Cloudy and unsettled weather Tuesday; continued heavy rain, heavy fog, and heavy snow in the north; heavy rain, heavy fog, and heavy snow in the south; heavy rain, heavy fog, and heavy snow in the west.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The Fresno Republican sorrowfully announces that: "People with lost dogs need not put their trust in canine faithfulness or the poundmaster in this year of grace. It is a long and chilly trail over Chilcot Pass, and the fleet-footed and flea-infested pet of the San Joaquin will be a long time gone."

The San José Mercury says: "Arthur McElwain has repudiated Bryan and Bryanism, and the list of repentants is daily growing. That sombrero is a veritable hoodoo." Perhaps, but William's tireless jaw can knock the biggest hat hollow as an extinguisher to the devotion of his erstwhile followers.

According to the Riverside Daily Press, "Ex-Gov. Altgeld of Illinois has been taking the sulphur baths at Elnore. They are a specific for many things, but cannot be guaranteed to cure silver rables, anarchy or bank-breaking." If his past record is any criterion, Altgeld is hopelessly incurable on the score of these maladies, and there are others.

A new authority on the subject of pure English has sprung up in the Williams News, which sets forth its objection to criticism as follows: "For the benefit of the jackanapes who took it upon himself to criticize the English of a recent article in the News, we will inform him that we believe in the free and unrestricted colage of words, and that we do not propose to be dictated to by either Webster or him."

The Ramona Sentinel complains that "a certain New York paper should take lessons either in climate or truthfulness. Commenting on the late cold spell, it coolly informs its readers that the temperature was 30 deg. below zero in Southern California. Now, it either meant to say 30 deg. above zero, or to tell a whopping big lie." Oh, no! It didn't. It simply couldn't grasp the idea of a winter temperature any higher than 30 deg. below.

The Oakland Tribune is responsible for the statement that "The university co-eds are participating in the athletic boom that is stirring the Berkeley students so noticeably this year. The Stanford girls are to be challenged, and will, of course, have the right of weapons—basket ball or tennis. No matter which they select, the Berkeleyites intend to perform that feat known as wiping the floor up with them." That drastic process will be rather hard on the bloomers.

Christian science does not go down with the Willows Journal, which unsympathetically comments on the sad case of "Mrs. Eugene Alexander, a Christian scientist of Alameda, who, with three waiters whose care she had undertaken, has been relying on the Lord to furnish grub for herself and the three children, with the result that when discovered, they were almost starved to death. The old lady should remember that the Lord helps those who help themselves, and go to work."

Words of wit and wisdom combined are spoken by the Anderson Valley News, which emits the following: "The printing press has made Presidents, killed poets, furnished bustles for beauties, and polished genius with criticisms. It has made the world get up at roll-call every morning, given the pulpit lungs of iron and voice of steam. It has set the price on a bushel of wheat and made the country postoffice the glimmering goal of the rustic scribe. It has curtailed the power of kings and graced pantry shelves. It has converted bankers into paupers, and made lawyers of college presidents. It has educated the homeless and robbed the philosopher of his reason. It smiles and kicks, cries and dies; but it can't be run to suit everybody, and the editor is a fool who tries."

State Socialistic Novels.
Lelgh H. Irvine, a newspaper man of San Francisco, author of a novel called "Told In Whispers," is now writing a new book on the same lines, though wholly different in plot. The hero of "Told In Whispers" goes to Congress and has a bill passed which provides a State government reservation for all who are enlisted as members. The author holds that it is the duty of the Federal government to provide means of support, or the opportunity to labor, to all worthy citizens who apply. Members enlist for the period of two years and their families are fed, clothed, housed and educated in return for the services of the government. Irvine holds that cooperation of the character described in his book, backed by government funds and direction, is the solution of the immediate and pressing problem of the unemployed.

SECOND SEMESTER

Of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, opens January 31. Students can enter as well as at first of the year. A well-equipped institution. High-grade work; scientific specialties; the laboratory; special course in anatomy and bacteriology. Low tuition. George W. White, president.

Events in Society.

(The society columns of the Illustrated Section of the Sunday Times are closed at 4 p.m. on Saturday.)

Harry Holabird gave a delightful colonial book party last evening at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holabird, on Alvarado street, in celebration of his nineteenth birthday. The guests were in quaint colonial costumes and each wore or carried some article representing the title of a well-known book. The prizes, which were books, were won by Miss Marguerite Moore and Mr. Ensign. The program was very appropriately pretty, were the work of Mr. Cooper. They were in the form of booklets, each decorated with a pen and ink colonial sketch appropriate to the guest for whom it was designed. The house was elaborately decorated with poinsettias and smilax. An old-fashioned New England supper very appropriately followed the guessing of the books.

Miss Fannie Lockhart assisted in receiving and the guests were the Misses Helen Easton, Winifred Huntley, Cora Foy, Ethel Brooks, Edna Foy, Kendall, Alma Foy, Marguerite Moore, Rowena Moore, Charles Ensign, Charles Mann, E. S. Ferris and Ernest Howard.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Miss Louise Van Slyke of Chicago University is spending a few weeks at the Gray Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Franklin entertained twenty of their friends Saturday evening at their home on West Eighteenth street. The evening was devoted to games and music, which were followed by a supper.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

Directors of the Y.M.C.A. Chosen for the ensuing year.

An annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening in the association hall. The Y.M.C.A. Orchestra furnished excellent music, and a flute solo by H. H. Parker and a gymnasium drill by Miss L. S. Scott were interspersed through the program of reports and addresses. In the absence of President E. A. Forrester, who is ill, F. M. Porter presided. Rev. Hugh K. Walker led in prayer. The chairman of the meeting stated that it was a common experience to have men arise from time to time with so-called new panaceas for social ills, and for bettering the condition of men, and find that the Young Men's Christian Association had anticipated these questions. He invited attention to the brief reports that those present might see the nature of the work done.

Dr. A. W. Plummer, secretary of the Educational Committee, gave an interesting account of the work of the evening classes. The committee, he said, had put forth much effort to get competent instructors, whose personality was calculated to mold men. He stated that work has been planned along many lines of educational advancement—mathematics, book-keeping, mechanics, electricity, mining law, English and foreign languages, stenography and typewriting, music, etc. It has been especially designed to meet the needs of men who could not continue in the public schools, attend college, or enjoy the privileges of private schools. There are many problems in the educational work of the association to solve, yet it is on a firm basis, and is being strengthened by being interwoven into a national and international system. An enlarged endowment for equipment and teachers is needed to bring the department to that degree of usefulness to which the committee believes it to be destined.

The report of the physical department by E. R. Tundt, showed that an average of eighty men have been using the gymnasium for the past four months. The systematic work there has produced a marked improvement in many cases.

J. C. Webb for the employment department reported that for the past four months 285 applications for employment had been received, and 115 had been placed into either temporary or permanent positions. Of the applicants about 20 per cent. were married men.

R. N. Campbell, chairman of the special committee, reported on the work of visiting the sick. Each Sunday a representative of the committee visits the County Hospital. Through the efforts of the committee convalescents have been given work, and some who were far from home and desired to go home to die have been sent to their families.

Dr. David W. Edwards, president of the Ministerial Life Insurance Company, gave a short address expressing his appreciation as a business man, of the great amount of work that had been done by the association.

The treasurer, A. H. Voigt, gave a detailed statement, showing the receipts for the year to have been $12,230.07, and the disbursements, $12,211.46, leaving a balance at the beginning of the present year of $18.50.

The report of the Nominating Committee was presented by Dr. G. J. Lund, and recommended the election of the following directors, who were unanimously chosen: J. Rose Clark, D. E. Edwards, E. A. Forrester, L. W. Godin, Robert Hale, F. O. Johnson, J. A. Muir, S. P. Mulford, George W. Parsons, F. M. Porter and A. H. Voigt.

Press Women.
The first International Congress of Press Women will be held in Washington, D. C., February 18 and 19, under the auspices of the Woman's National Press Association. Among the topics to be discussed are the following: Practical journalistic work; moral and educational value of journalism; the graduation of the newspaper hack; the national magazine; the illustrator's rank in journalism; can journalism be taught? and the outcome of press congresses.

ALASKA GOLD FIELDS.
The city of Portland, Ore., seems to be quietly doing a large share of the Alaska outfitting business. Everything used in Alaska must be shipped in from the outside. Oregon is the nearest country which produces food, clothing and implements, and Portland merchants are prepared to furnish these articles to the Alaska prospector at the same prices at which they are selling jobbers of other cities who are doing an outfitting business. We hear much said about the Portland-Alaska Outfitting Co., a company which deals exclusively in Alaskan supplies of every variety. This company can completely outfit a prospector from the stock, which is among the largest on the Pacific Coast. Men in their employ have had years of experience in Alaska, and are prepared to furnish much valuable information. We advise persons intending to go to Alaska to communicate with the Portland-Alaska Outfitting Co. at once, at Portland, Ore., 20 and 22 North Front street, corner Burnside.

"Always Satisfactory to the Wearer."

California celebrated yesterday the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of gold within its boundaries. The State has passed through an era of the most wonderful development since the first particles of the precious metal were picked up in Sutter's Creek, just a half century ago. The story is a familiar one. Not only this country, but the whole world was thrown into a state of excitement by the account of the course through the city shortly after 2 o'clock. It was not a brilliant procession that wended its way through the streets, but it was an interesting one, and served the purpose for which it was intended. It showed something of the extent and the nature of the commercial and industrial enterprises that are carried on in the city.

There was some effort at artistic decoration on a few of the carriages in the procession, but most of the vehicles were simply fitted out as they are for ordinary use. The parade was not so long as the one with which the last Home Products Exhibition was inaugurated, and not so many firms took part in it.

In spite of the wind which raised the dust and made it very disagreeable out of doors, the line of march was crowded with spectators on both sides of the street from start to finish.

The procession was headed by a

Deeble's Military Band headed the fourth division, which was in charge of Marshal J. S. Phillips. The Printing Pressman's Union marched next, and was followed by the Chamber of Commerce float, which attracted much attention. Displays of many of the products of Los Angeles county were tastefully arranged about the float, giving it an artistic appearance. A six-in-hand coach, drawn by white horses and filled with young women dressed in white from the Erkenbrecher soap factory, came next.

The parade from the point of forming at the corner of Los Angeles and Sixth streets, proceeded west on Sixth street to Main street, then north to First street, and then east on Main street to the reviewing stand in front of the Hall of Industry.

The Enterprise dairy drove a wagon

by six horses and several others sat proudly on its rickety top. Mayor Snyder and Councilman Grider led the division of "prominent citizens in carriages," and Hutchinson was among those present. From The Times office windows an excellent view of the back of the Mayor's head was obtained by a special artist on the spot. The soldier boys looked quite businesslike in their service uniforms, but the need of "setting-up" drill was very evident. Slooped shoulders and slouchy gait marred the appearance of the ranks.

PIONEERS AND NATIVES.

Banquet and Speechmaking Conclude the Day's Festivities.

Turner Hall was the scene of a large gathering last evening. The occasion was the entertainment and banquet given under the joint auspices of the Pioneers' Society, the Native Daughters of the Golden West, the Historical Society and the Native Sons of the Golden West. The hall was tastefully draped with streamers and with the national colors, and over the stage hung the Bear Flag of California. In the audience were many prominent people and many who have played an important part in the city's history.

The earlier portion of the evening was occupied by a varied programme of music, addresses and humorous selections. The banquet followed, tables being spread in the large dining-room darkness of night, by the campfires of the arconauts ahead. Rivers are crossed, the plains are trodden, Indians are fought, the pangs of hunger and thirst are endured. Here and there the heart must ache at sight of the scalped remains of a father, brother or friend, or the dead and dismembered body of a mother or sister lying, perhaps, beside the dying embers of the supper fire, victims alike to the cruelty and inhumanity of the savage.

"At length the Sierras face them. Slowly they climb the mountain side. Overcome by fatigue they pause for once. While regaining strength they look backward on the landscape before them. For miles, as far as the eye can see, and beyond, in one long caravan, are other hundreds, one and all inspired and sustained by the absorbing idea of wealth to be gained. Marshall's gold—magnet-like—draws them on. They heed not the lessons of the newly-made mounds, here and there dotting the plains, telling of vanquished ambitions, of hopes deferred.

"However, the retrospect is soon over. Now eagerly the pioneers seek to reach the mountain heights. The parched ground of the lowlands no longer burns, but their feet now sink into the eternal snows of the summit. Looking down the western slope, the land of promise is in view. In the distance, the descending sun lights up the Golden Gate, the latching of which has been out to the world's commerce at all times since. From the north to the south lay the great valleys of the Sacramento passed in, taking seats at the long tables, which were decorated with flowers.

The menu was not an elaborate one, but was appropriately composed chiefly of Californian dishes. At its conclusion Ben C. Truman, who was presiding as toastmaster, called upon Mayor Snyder to respond to the toast of the evening, "Our City." The Mayor expressed his appreciation of the honor that had been conferred upon him in placing him upon the list of speakers. He said he had lived many years in the State, and would soon be eligible for admission to the Society of Pioneers. No other State, he declared, turned out such native sons and daughters as are found under California's sunny skies. The Mayor then spoke of Los Angeles, showing the great contrast between the pueblo of 1848 and the great city of 1908.

Enthusiastic applause greeted the announcement of the name of Judge B. S. Eaton as the next speaker upon the programme. The toast was "The Pioneers," and the toastmaster alluded to Judge Eaton's early arrival in Southern California, and his purchase of land upon the present site of Pasadena.

Judge Eaton responded happily to his toast, reviewing in a few words the history of the Society of Pioneers, and commenting upon the value of the organization, not merely because of its social features, but because of its value as a means of preserving those traditions which often become an important part of history. In behalf of the

They All Come Back

"There are fads in medicine as well as in other things," said a busy druggist, "but the most remarkable thing about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that customers who try other remedies all come back to Hood's, and this is why the enormous sales of this great medicine keep up and continue the whole year round, steady as a clock."

"Why is it?" "O, simply because Hood's Sarsaparilla has more real curative merit than any medicine I ever sold."

This is of daily occurrence in almost every drug store. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured more sickness, and made more happiness through restoration to health than any other medicine.

could not be present and giving cordial greeting to all who had assembled for the occasion.

E. C. Schnabel responded to the toast "Native Sons."

He was followed by Hon. R. F. Del Valle, whose theme was the "Discovery of Gold," alluding to the fact that the first substantial discovery of gold in

F. E. PAT. Member Executive Committee.

California was in Los Angeles county, the speaker said that the greatness of California was not due to such causes, but to the bravery and the ability of the pioneers and their sons. To them he attributed the mighty progress and development of the half-century that has elapsed. Feeling reference was made to the recent death of Col. J. J. Ayers, prominent among the pioneers of the State. Mr. Del Valle spoke eloquently, and his remarks drew forth hearty applause.

The last speaker of the evening was W. J. Varie. Owing to the lateness of the hour many of the guests had already departed, and Mr. Varie alluded humorously to his fast-lessening audience. His toast was "Our Country," and a brief but graphic sketch was given of the vast changes that have adjoining the hall, and responses to the numerous toasts concluded the evening.

S. O. D. Jones, the chairman of the evening, opened the programme with a few brief words of welcome and introduced to the audience Isidore B.

San Joaquin. The pioneers now descend, and soon are among the hills and ravines below and beyond where lays the precious metal. Thereafter and for fifty years, they and their successors have poured into the lap of trade millions upon millions of new found gold. The history of this half-century is not unfamiliar to many of you present tonight. Some of you, in fact, contributed to the making of it. And to such, permit me to convey the assurance that the rest of us are always willing readers of, and listeners to, the record of your achievements.

"Upon such occasions one cannot well avoid a little retrospection. A little more than fifty years before Marshall's discovery, on these very shores, the Franciscan missionaries were fast disenthraling the Indian mind from the chains of pagan superstition, and teaching the arts of civilization.

"About the same time our revolutionary fathers were waging freedom's battle on our eastern shores, and establishing the great republic, which was destined to extend its sovereignty over our fair land soon after the happening of the event, which throughout the length and breadth of our great

State, has been this day commemorated.

"Today, fifty years after, the citizenship of this State is not so much engaged in wrenching from mother earth its buried treasures, but more particularly directs its efforts in the lines of trade and commerce and toward the proper distribution of the output of our factories and the products of our soil.

"Our agriculturists, horticulturists and viticulturists claim the world's attention to the magnificent results of their labors. While the Pioneers here tonight review the history of the past fifty years, may not the Native Sons here present look into the future fifty years hence, and our imagination stands appalled at the possibilities. But I apprehend that we need not devote our entire time this evening to the contemplation of the greatness of our State. More particularly should we consider the claims of those to whom we owe the honor of birth in this land. From the past we should draw lessons for the future; we must recognize the fact that only through the practice of many virtues did our forefathers of these shores succeed to the position they attained, and which we willingly concede.

"May we fifty years hence have the privilege of sitting down with our sons and their friends again to commemorate California's greatness, and to receive from those around us an honored recognition of well-spent lives. May we Native Sons and Native Daughters, in conjunction with those who have since, and who may hereafter make this the State of their adoption, ever revere the memory of those who contributed to the grand task of connecting the western shores of this continent with the eastern, and bringing all under the dominion of the same flag.

"May we ever be true to our country and loyal to its call, whether in peace or in war, and may our love and pride for our State be transmitted unimpaired to the generations soon to follow, to the end that the cause of civil and political liberty be sustained and our government upheld."

THE TOASTS.

The doors of the dining-room were then thrown open, and the guests

Francisco, the toastmaster called upon Walter S. Moore to respond to the toast "Our Native Daughters." Mr. Moore rose to the occasion in a characteristic speech. He said he felt deeply the honor so suddenly thrust upon him. He was somewhat familiar with the delightful characteristics of the Native Daughters. "In fact," said the speaker, "I am perhaps in a better position to speak upon the subject than some others, in view of the fact that I have been married to a Native Daughter for over twenty years. I am glad to say that she still takes a great deal of interest in my affairs." Referring to home products, he felt safe in saying that the most precious of these is the Native Daughter. "As the husband and father of a Native Daughter I can safely say to the gentlemen present, it is well to be such, and as you grow older you will find the Native Daughter a proper and delightful helpmate."

In conclusion he said that, while he had not done as much for the State in the way of Native Daughters as Mr. Workman, he had done his best. That he had not done better was the fault of circumstances. He hoped at the seventy-fifth anniversary of the discovery of gold to be at the head of the table as a pioneer, and that the children of all those present would then be seated around the board as Native Sons and Daughters.

A letter was read from ex-Mayor Workman, expressing his regret that he

"Our agriculturists, horticulturists and viticulturists claim the world's attention to the magnificent results of their labors. While the Pioneers here tonight review the history of the past fifty years, may not the Native Sons here present look into the future fifty years hence, and our imagination stands appalled at the possibilities. But I apprehend that we need not devote our entire time this evening to the contemplation of the greatness of our State. More particularly should we consider the claims of those to whom we owe the honor of birth in this land. From the past we should draw lessons for the future; we must recognize the fact that only through the practice of many virtues did our forefathers of these shores succeed to the position they attained, and which we willingly concede.

"May we fifty years hence have the privilege of sitting down with our sons and their friends again to commemorate California's greatness, and to receive from those around us an honored recognition of well-spent lives. May we Native Sons and Native Daughters, in conjunction with those who have since, and who may hereafter make this the State of their adoption, ever revere the memory of those who contributed to the grand task of connecting the western shores of this continent with the eastern, and bringing all under the dominion of the same flag.

"May we ever be true to our country and loyal to its call, whether in peace or in war, and may our love and pride for our State be transmitted unimpaired to the generations soon to follow, to the end that the cause of civil and political liberty be sustained and our government upheld."

THE TOASTS.

The doors of the dining-room were then thrown open, and the guests

been wrought during the past fifty years.

Mr. Dockweiler's address was appropriately, followed by a song, "Hail California," well rendered by a chorus of sixteen voices, led by Mrs. G. F. Parsons.

MUSIC AND MINSTRELSY.

Much amusement was afforded by members of the Los Angeles Parlor of the Native Sons. They rendered a minstrel programme, interspersed with songs, and were repeatedly encored. The dainty dialect was well imitated by several of the participants, and the audience displayed a sympathetic willingness to laugh at the proper places.

Miss Belcher gave a clever burlesque of the female agitator for women's rights, and was heartily applauded. A baritone solo, "Calvary," by Eugene Roth, was finely rendered. He was followed by Dr. J. S. Phillips with a recitation.

The most pleasing number upon the evening's programme was the singing by the Madrigal Quartette, composed of Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Grace Longley, Miss Alice Eaton and Miss Lillie Scanlon. The first selection rendered was "Robin Adair," harmonized by Eugene Roth. The roles of the singers harmonized most delightfully and the appreciation of the audience was testified by enthusiastic applause.

In response to the insistent demand for an encore, the quartette returned to the stage and sang Naidlinger's discovery which spread like wildfire and increased at every telling. California experienced an almost unprecedented growth. After the first bluish of the gold fever cooled off, the energy of the newcomers was diverted to the development of the natural resources of the country, which proved, and have been proving ever since, abundantly rich.

Gov. Budd decided that it would be fitting, in view of this wonderful progress, to have the fiftieth anniversary a day of golden jubilee, and early in the month he set aside the 24th of January company of mounted police, followed by two companies of police on foot in charge of Chief Glass, Grand Marshal J. C. Cline and the Exhibition Committee, consisting of Max Meyberg, R. W. Pridham, R. H. Herron, C. W. Boothe and R. W. Burnham, all well mounted, came next. Brig.-Gen. C. F. A. Last and staff, the Seventh Regiment Band, Col. John R. Berry and staff, and the National Guards of California brought up the rear of the first division.

Marshal Ed H. Garrett had charge of the second division, which was led by the Los Angeles Military Band, followed by the order of the Native Sons of the Golden West in costume. One of the prettiest vehicles in the parade was the chariot driven by Mrs. Anna Kessler, who was costumed to represent Minerva. The chariot was drawn by three shetland ponies, and was decorated with pepper boughs. It was a part of the display made by containing an exhibit of fine Jersey cows that attracted the attention of stock men.

The Keystone Produce Company made many small boys and some large ones happy by keeping torches busy tossing out red apples from barrels along the line of march.

A sextuplet bicycle, turned out by the Waltham Manufacturing Company, was ridden in the parade by six young men.

A wagon drawn by dogs, and accompanied by several men dressed in Klondike outfits, fitted up by W. H. Hoegge, attracted much attention.

"The remains of the late Mrs. McKinley" was the touching notice tacked on a display wagon from the South Pasadena ostrich farm, which was covered with a lot of plumes from the big bird that recently met a tragic death by being kicked to death by her mate.

A cage in the wagon contained several baby ostriches only lately hatched.

Mitchell Stanley led his grizzly bear along with the parade. It was with eminent satisfaction that a great many people noticed that bruin was muzzled.

The old travel-worn stage coach that made its first trip across the plains from St. Joseph, Mo., to Los Angeles in 1850, headed the division of county pioneers in the parade. It was drawn and lured from both continents to the newly-unmasked El Dorado, those sturdy pioneers, to whom we owe the upbuilding of our great commonwealth.

"From beyond the oceans, from the distant fatherland, came men strong in mind and body; young men of courage, capacity and education then living on the rugged eastern shore were enmeshed of the prospects in the golden land, and hither they bent their steps, facing unknown dangers and suffering; undismayed alike by the cruelty of savages or the natural hardships of the journey itself. By day they thought of the land beyond the Sierras, they dreamed of its riches by night. Onward and forward they pressed, guided in the light of day by blazed trails and roads, and in the

the daughters of the Golden West, who followed their leader in a four-in-hand, dressed in white and carrying white parasols. A string of tally-hos came next, filled with the pioneers of Los Angeles county.

F. H. Lowe led the third division, and following came the Patriarchs Militant of the I.O.O.F. The board of directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, Mayor Snyder and members of the City Council, and the members of the Board of County Supervisors in carriages closed up the division.

JUBILEE SPORTS.

Courting, Baseball and a Horse-Bicycle Race.

It was "a whisper from Klondike" yesterday on the courting field, and the baseball diamond. A steady, keen wind that cut right through overcoats and furs and kept everybody shivering, made the day one that will be remembered.

The sunshine fooled people to the extent that a good crowd assembled at both Agricultural and Fiesta parks, and once there the ordinary moral "stuck it out."

The courting yesterday was not as good as has heretofore been given at Agricultural Park, but it was by no means poor or unsatisfactory. The fact is, the managers have been holding courting out at Agricultural Park up to a standard never before known.

J. J. BERGIN,
Member Executive Committee.

In the West, and consequently an "off day" is more marked at that park than it would be at any other. The rules are not so rigidly enforced. The weather, too, had much to do with the running. The hares were slow and the dogs not too anxious to get from under their nice, warm blankets.

The day's racing went off without a hitch, except in the Doncaster-Crow race and in the triple bicycle race against the horse. In the former event Judge Ladd rode over to the betting ring, just before the dogs were shipped, and said: "Gentlemen, Doncaster is in no condition to run. The dog is not fit to race. Bet your money on him if you desire, but he is in no shape to win it. The dog is known as one of the fastest on the coast, but this club does not want any dog started unless fit to run. The race between Doncaster and Crow will be an unequal one, as the former dog is in no condition." Despite this warning, the admirers of Doncaster backed him. He was beaten 4 to 1.

In the bicycle-horse race, Lacy, Cromwell and Palmer broke their triple wheel turning the first quarter-mile, after the start in the three-mile race. Bob Hackney, who was driving the running horse, Prince, could have gone ahead and won the money had he so desired, as the judges had given the word to go, but Hackney, having won twice before, said he was more than willing to give the boys a chance, barring accidents. It was found impossible to repair the triple wheel, and all bets were declared off, but a race was made against the horse on different terms. Lacy, Palmer and Cromwell each rode a mile in relay of a three-mile race, but the horse beat them even at that game, and beat them easily.

In the courting the following dogs won in the first run-off: Juliet, Hardy, Flora, Cyclone, Beauty, Capt. Kid, Sailor Girl, Poker Davis, White Chief, General, Dawning, Girdle, Crow, Romeo, Fannie C. II.

Lady Lillian and Breach of Promise made a match race, the latter winning, 3 to 0.

The advent of Crow (which should have been called the Crow Dog, as he is named after the famous Sioux chief) and Breach of Promise on the course upset the calculations of the courting sharp. Both dogs are imported animals and both are known to many courting fields as winners. There was no attempt to conceal the facts, but local courting men thought the stranger dogs had not been strong enough to get acclimated. Had it been an ordinary Los Angeles holiday, as to temperature, the dogs might have got the worst of it, but for the running on the Colorado plains and yesterday was old-time weather for them.

In the first tie the winners were: Cyclone, Sailor Girl, General, Crow.

In the third tie Cyclone and Sailor Girl ran a tie, and in the run-off Cyclone won. Crow beat General.

In the final Crow beat Cyclone, 6 to 1. The money went as follows: Crow, $10; Cyclone, $40; General, $25; Sailor Girl, $10; Romeo, $10; Poker Davis, $10; Beauty, Juliet, Fannie C. II, Girdle, Dawning, White Chief, $5 each.

Attendance to witness the third game of the Santa Cruz-Los Angeles series of baseball. The Beachcombers, as the Santa Cruz boys are known, have played an uphill game here right along.

The reorganized Los Angeles team comprises in the nine some of the best professionals on the baseball diamond, who are wintering here preparatory to their playing next season in the various teams of the eastern league. As a matter of course, being in constant training, month in and month out the year around, such men as Dungan, Decker, Steinfeld and Early are more than a match for first-class amateurs, no matter where they come from.

This handicap the unusual cold snap and it is not surprising the Santa Cruz boys made no mistake. But on one point all who have witnessed the play of the Beachcombers are agreed, namely, that they get discouraged too easily and so to play when they should stand together. The "professionals" seemed to demoralize the team even when they were doing no great amount of work or very good work, at that.

One thing the management of Fiesta Park should do at once, and that is to get the old lumber and other "junk" off the grounds and rearrange their grand stand and bleachers. The grounds look like an abandoned lumber yard in their present condition, and when a ball happens to be knocked into the piles of boards, it is practically lost.

The success of the Santa Cruz-Los Angeles series of games has emboldened the management to bring here the California Markets, and that team will probably be seen at the park next Sunday.

Constantine Herman Marks of this city received word Saturday that José M. Cervantes, badly wanted here on the charge of forgery, and who has been in hiding in Mexico for some time, had been captured by the authorities on route to this city. Marks at once dug out the warrant for Cervantes' arrest, which had been filed in the Superior Court, and started out to meet the fugitive from justice. Marks expected his man to arrive at the station at 10 o'clock, but he did not arrive until 11 o'clock. ### THE POLICE FORCE OF PHOENIX TANGLED AND UNTANGLED.

Due to an Ordinance Giving Mayor Absolute Power—Encomiums for the University at Tucson—President's Baby Episode—Escaped Prisoner Quickly Recaptured.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 22.—(Regular Correspondence.) The police force of Phoenix has been tangled up during the past week as effectively as the Denver force was two or three years ago when "Bloody Bridget" was shot by Governor. For two days there were two sets of officers patrolling the streets of Arizona's capital, and while no threats were made, the situation was decidedly unique and interesting. The trouble was the attempted enforcement of an ordinance passed by the City Council giving the Mayor absolute power to discharge or hire police officers. Late on Wednesday afternoon Mayor J. C. Adams gave three members written notices of their discharge. The next day he appointed two new officers to go on duty. The new men were qualified for their positions, and were ready to go on duty immediately. The retired members refused to deliver up their stars, asserting that the ordinance was unconstitutional. The Mayor was obliged to call in the police force, and the situation was a most unusual one. A special meeting of the City Council was called, and the ordinance was rescinded. The police force was then reorganized, and the situation was settled.

PHOENIX BREVIETTES. Benjamin Openshaw, about 30 years old, unmarried, was adjudged insane in the Probate Court here last night. He was kidnapped when a child from wealthy parents. His parents, who are Moravians, paid a ransom for his return. He was then taken to Phoenix, where he lived with a family while living in Utah. Openshaw is believed to be the person who set fire to the house of the late John W. Adams, which was destroyed last Monday night. Insanity and not criminal proceedings were instituted against him.

THE POLICE FORCE OF PHOENIX TANGLED AND UNTANGLED.

Due to an Ordinance Giving Mayor Absolute Power—Encomiums for the University at Tucson—President's Baby Episode—Escaped Prisoner Quickly Recaptured.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 22.—(Regular Correspondence.) The police force of Phoenix has been tangled up during the past week as effectively as the Denver force was two or three years ago when "Bloody Bridget" was shot by Governor. For two days there were two sets of officers patrolling the streets of Arizona's capital, and while no threats were made, the situation was decidedly unique and interesting. The trouble was the attempted enforcement of an ordinance passed by the City Council giving the Mayor absolute power to discharge or hire police officers. Late on Wednesday afternoon Mayor J. C. Adams gave three members written notices of their discharge. The next day he appointed two new officers to go on duty. The new men were qualified for their positions, and were ready to go on duty immediately. The retired members refused to deliver up their stars, asserting that the ordinance was unconstitutional. The Mayor was obliged to call in the police force, and the situation was a most unusual one. A special meeting of the City Council was called, and the ordinance was rescinded. The police force was then reorganized, and the situation was settled.

PHOENIX BREVIETTES. Benjamin Openshaw, about 30 years old, unmarried, was adjudged insane in the Probate Court here last night. He was kidnapped when a child from wealthy parents. His parents, who are Moravians, paid a ransom for his return. He was then taken to Phoenix, where he lived with a family while living in Utah. Openshaw is believed to be the person who set fire to the house of the late John W. Adams, which was destroyed last Monday night. Insanity and not criminal proceedings were instituted against him.

MUNICIPAL BONDS TO BE REDEEMED NEXT MONTH.

Death of Mrs. Thaddeus Winters. Committee Working to Establish a Young Ladies' College—Monday Evening Musical Club—Pasadena Assembly.

PASADENA, Jan. 24.—(Regular Correspondence.) The terms series of municipal improvement bonds will be redeemed February 1. The amount of cash required to pay these bonds is $10,000, the amounts of the bonds being $1000, the interest amounting to $400. One Public Library bond will also be redeemed, the face of the bond being $425, with $20.75 interest.

On this date also the interest on all outstanding municipal bonds becomes due, and to liquidate that will require $2500 on the improvement bonds and $386.75 interest on library bonds. The total payment to be made on the first day of next month will be $15,691.75, being more than $10,000 on principal indebtedness and upward of $5000 in interest.

DEATH OF MRS. THADDEUS WINTERS. Mrs. Thaddeus Winters, who for eight years has been a resident of this city, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. B. Reed, on California street, Tuesday morning, January 24. She was 78 years old. She had been ill for some time. She was buried in the Los Angeles cemetery.

THE PROPOSED COLLEGE. The plans of the committee of twenty-five ladies for the establishment of a proposed ladies' college for Pasadena are earnest in their endeavors to secure some person who will endow such a college with a goodly endowment, and in return have the college named for him or whomsoever he may designate. It is not the intention of the promoters to have aught but a full college, and the college for women, with Stanford, Berkeley or any high-grade college in the East. There will be no preparatory school in connection with the college, as in the building of such an institution as is desired in Pasadena the resources of the city are inadequate. The committee is desirous of securing a person who will endow such a college with a goodly endowment, and in return have the college named for him or whomsoever he may designate.

MONDAY EVENING MUSICAL CLUB. An open meeting of the Monday Evening Musical Club was held last night at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. N. A. Dalrymple on East Colorado street, and was very largely attended. The program consisted of a variety of musical numbers, and was very enjoyable. The club is a very popular one, and is well attended.

PASADENA BREVIETTES. The most successful revival meeting ever held in this city is the one being conducted by Rev. A. G. Carter, Miss Stoutenburgh, and Miss H. Carter, at the Methodist Church. Up to the close of the meeting this evening 100 conversions have been announced, and the meetings will continue during the remainder of the week.

HORRIBLY CRUSHED.

Laborer on the New Broadway Block Fatally Injured.

One life was sacrificed in the erection of the new Broadway block, corner of First and Broadway, opposite the Times office, yesterday. The victim is P. H. Leyden, a laborer, who went to work for Contractor Booth at noon. About 4 o'clock he was engaged in excavating under the bracing wall of the Tally-Ho stables, adjoining the site of the new building, when a quantity of brick and mortar weighing nearly a ton fell squarely on top of him, almost burying him from sight and nearly crushing the life out of him.

He was dug out as quickly as possible by his fellow-workmen and carried to the Receiving Hospital, only a few yards distant, the blood mean while gushing from his mouth, ears and nose. An examination by Police Surgeon Hagan disclosed the fact that the falling wall caught the unfortunate man on the left side of his head and body, almost completely severing the left ear, crushing his breast bone and four ribs and breaking his right leg below the knee. His skull is also believed to be fractured, but his condition would warrant no examination as to this.

Dr. Hagan stitched on the lacerated ear and did what he could to mend the broken bones, but the recovery of the patient is considered extremely doubtful. His death is momentarily expected.

Leyden is about 35 years of age and unmarried. Little could be learned about his personal history beyond the fact that he has been a common laborer and secured employment from Contractor Booth only yesterday.

PRICE MISCALCULATED.

An Electric Car Struck His Wagon and Broke His Leg.

There was a race yesterday morning between a delivery wagon of the Peerless Laundry and an electric car for precedence in making the crossing at the intersection of Fifth and Crocker streets. They got there at the same moment, but the electric car being far the heavier body made kindling wood of the laundry wagon. W. N. Price, driver of the wagon, jumped just before the collision occurred, and lit on his right foot, breaking his leg at the ankle. Price saw the car approaching, and the motorman saw the wagon, but each claimed right-of-way and thought there was time to cross ahead of the other. Both miscalculated, with the result already stated. Price was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where Police Surgeon Hagan set his broken leg. Later in the day he was sent to the County Hospital. Price is a single man, past middle age. He was thrown from his wagon several weeks ago, receiving slight injuries.

DETAILS OF THE PICO HEIGHTS SCHOOLHOUSE FIRE.

The Drill Proves a Success—Schools Will Be Reopened Today in Vacant Rooms in the Neighborhood.

The Board of Education was called to meet in special session yesterday to complete the work of arranging for new quarters for the children belonging to Pico Heights school, which building was destroyed by fire last week. Owing to various causes a quorum of the board was not present yesterday morning, and no meeting was held. Superintendent Fosbury, acting under instructions given at a previous meeting, has made arrangements to reopen the Pico Heights school this morning, as the following report, filed with the secretary of the Board of Education shows:

"In regard to the placing of the children in Pico Heights District in school, I have to report that, in accordance with the directions given at your special meeting on Saturday last, rooms have been obtained and the children will be put in school Tuesday morning, the 25th inst., as follows: B 1's, in the storeroom of the brick building on Pico street, near P street, forenoon session; A 1's and B 2's in the same room, afternoon session. A 2's and B 3's in the storeroom on the corner of Pico and E streets. A 3's, B 4's, and A 4's, in the Sunday-school room of the Congregational church. B 5's and A 5's, in the audience-room of the Congregational church."

The Committee on Insurance has prepared a report giving the details of the burning of Pico Heights school building, which will be presented to the board at its next meeting. The report embodies a letter from J. P. Yoder, principal of the school, which sets forth the probable cause of the fire and gives in detail the story of how the children were marched out and their books and other property saved. According to Mr. Yoder the fire drill was effectively used and every pupil was marched out of the building in about one minute. In detailing the fire, Principal Yoder says:

"The fire was first discovered about 1:45 o'clock p.m. At this time a portion of the roof of the chimney of the building was burning. The discovery was made by Joe Szaranski, a pupil of the A 1 grade, who was out of the schoolhouse at the time. He hastened quickly to the room of Miss Eva Quick and whispered to her: 'The schoolhouse is burning.' She immediately came to my room and said to me quietly, 'Our schoolhouse is on fire.' I requested Herman Hanson, the pupil whose duty it is to ring the gong and play the triangle, to give the signal for a fire drill. The command was obeyed, and in about one minute every pupil had marched out of the building in good order. Deputy Superintendent C. L. Eganis chanced to be visiting in room No. 1, and while the pupils were marching out stepped to the office and telephoned for the fire department.

"The lives of all the children were saved; also the school records and some of the furniture. In closing I wish to thank Joe Szaranski for his heroic spirit and excellent conduct. Not every boy can be the 'Father of his country,' like Washington, or a victor of it like Lincoln, but every one may, in some way, be a patriot hero, as was Joe Szaranski."

The report also says that the fire was undoubtedly the result of burning from the chimney falling on the roof, and that the janitress was in no way to blame, as the furnace in the basement was 'barely alive with a bed of coals.' A strong wind was blowing, and there was an insufficient supply of water. Had the fire department been able to get water readily the building could and would, in the opinion of the committee, have been saved with only a slight damage to the roof.

A QUESTIONABLE SELECTION.

Police Commission May Reconsider Pascual Hiriart's Appointment.

The Police Commission will meet today and it is probable that the recent appointment of Pascual Hiriart to the police force will be one of the subjects of discussion. Commissioner Preuss, at whose request Hiriart was appointed, still insists that the charges made against the man are unfounded. Some of the other commissioners, however, are strongly inclined to believe that the appointment was an unfortunate one. The police speak of Hiriart in anything but complimentary terms. He is said to have been the companion of disreputable characters and was himself shadowed by the detectives at one time on suspicion of having committed a burglary.
